Syria Gets Close To Firm Hookup With Soviet Bloc

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP)—Volatile Syria moved closer to the Communist bloc today as pro-Soviet officers purged rightists from the politically powerful army.

Gen. Afif Bizry, known throughout the Middle East as the most extreme leftist in Syria's army, took control of the army over the weekend, reliable sources said.

Bizry, 43, a known Communist, immediately began to purge right-wing opponents. Thirteen officers were fired or resigned in Damascus and a number fled to Beirut. While Premier Sabri Assali's Moscow-oriented government seemed to have been strengthened, President Shukri Kuwaty's professed neutrality between East and West—already cloudy behind Russian arms deals—became a little more indistinct.

Kuwaty had once threatened to resign rather than let Communist supporters take complete control of the army. But the weekend's virtual coup d'etat by leftists came with formal approval of the sick president.

KUWATLY SIGNED a presidential decree Saturday jumping Bizry from lieutenant colonel to general and making him army commander in chief and chief of staff, an official announcement said.

Then, amid rumors that Kuwaty had resigned, which Assali denied, the president flew to Egypt Sunday. In Cairo for the third time in six months, he talked with Egyptian President Nasser for more than an hour.

The Syrian and Egyptian armies are united under the joint command of an Egyptian officer and both are heavily stocked with Soviet arms. But Nasser has kept his own Communists suppressed.

Purpose of Kuwaty's trip was officially announced as a medical checkup in Alexandria. He flew to Alexandria after seeing Nasser and went to a hospital.

The events that brought Communists to power in the army of Missouri-sized Syria began in the best fashion of Soviet Russia, with charges of foreign plotting to overthrow the government.

Well-informed sources here said Syria's charge last Tuesday that the United States was seeking to oust Kuwaty was used as a blind for the leftists.

The government ordered three American diplomats out of the country after charging a U. S. plot to "buy" a pro-American regime with economic aid offers after a coup d'etat. The State Department called the charges pure fabrication and expelled two Syrian diplomats in retaliation.

TWO DAYS AFTER the plot charges, the government announced that Gen. Tewfik Nizam Eddin, 44, had requested retirement from the post of chief of staff which he assumed last year. He left without a struggle, apparently at the instigation of the leftist group.

Persons here familiar with the Syrian scene noted that Kuwaty and Nizam Eddin have been out of the country recently, leaving a free field for the leftist plotters.

Kuwaty returned hurriedly two weeks ago from medical treatment in Switzerland at the time of a crisis in relations with Jordan. Nizam Eddin was with Acting Defense Minister Khaled el Azem on a trip to Moscow that resulted in a public agreement for Russian economic aid to Syria and, sources in Cairo said, a secret pact for more Soviet arms.

The economic agreement was officially reported Sunday to have won approval of the Syrian-Cabinet and Parliament's Foreign Affairs Committee.

ACCUSE WRITER AS RED SPY — Novelist Martha Dodd and her husband, Alfred K. Stern (above) were accused of being part of an intensive Soviet spy network in testimony before the House Un-American Activities Committee. Chairman Francis E. Walter (Dem-Pa.), said they were named by U. S. counterspy Boris Morros, ex-Hollywood producer and composer. Martha Dodd, daughter of a former U. S. ambassador to Germany, and her husband were said to have fled to Mexico when they were sought by a federal grand jury for questioning in New York.

Milk Prices Throughout Ohio Could Be Boosted Soon, Hint

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS Milk prices, both to the consumer and those received by the farmer, may go up soon in Ohio.

All this could be the result of increases reached Sunday between Cleveland dairies and the Milk Producers Federation.

The agreement, which provides a new price of $5.52 a hundredweight for fluid milk, ended a one-day strike called by the independent Ohio Dairy Farmers Bargaining Assn.

Immediately following announcement of the new price agreement, the dairies announced that consumers milk prices will go up a cent-a-quart, effective Tuesday. The new price of milk—23 cents a quart, home delivered—is still one of the lowest in the U. S.

Court-Main Busy? Check The Figures

A total of 587 vehicles passed the Court-Main St. corner during a 10-minute period on a Sunday a few weeks ago.

According to the City Safety Department, which conducted a traffic count on the corner "just because we were interested", the total vehicle count was made between 6:30 p. m. and 6:40 p. m. The average weekday count is 523 vehicles every 10 minutes with an average of 298 pedestrians using the corner each 10-minute period.

Those figures challenge the famed Broad-High intersection, in Columbus.

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Westinghouse Electric Corp. and the AFL-CIO International Union of Electrical Workers today opened negotiations on non-economic phases of a five-year contract covering 45,000 Westinghouse employees.

Air Major Seeking To Ride To Brink of Outer Space

CROSBY, Minn. (AP)—A huge silver balloon climbed out of an open iron pit today carrying an Air Force doctor skyward for a 24-hour look at the brink of outer space.

As helicopters hovered around the huge crater, Maj. David G. Simons was lifted to an attempt at a record-breaking altitude and an unprecedented experiment in aerial medicine.

Major Simons, 34, a native of Lancaster, Pa., peered out of port holes in his gondola, a tiny silver capsule laden with instruments, as Air Force project "Man High" got underway at 9:25 a. m.

An endurance test of man's ability to live in an artificial atmosphere for long periods of time at high altitude, the flight was expected to give the Air Force important information on what pilots of the future must contend with during travel through space.

Simons, chief of the space biology branch of the aero-medical laboratory at Holoman Air Development Center, Alamogordo, N. M., was to rise in the black-wood balloon to a maximum altitude of 102,000 feet, then remain for $5.50 a hundredweight was not met by dairies in Cleveland. A strike in Summit and Stark counties was called off by ODFBA when large farmers cooperatives announced Saturday in Canton and Akron that a price of $5.52 had been negotiated.

WITHHOLDING milk from markets had a varied effect in Cleveland. Small dairies reported they received no milk while some larger dairies said deliveries were about 95 per cent of normal.

Ashtabula County moved virtually no milk to market while other counties reported a normal situation.

Joe N. Brown, ODFBA president, hailed the settlement as a victory for dairy farmers in north-east Ohio. The larger dairies refused to negotiate with the ODFBA preferring discussions with the long-established and larger cooperatives like MPF. The striking group represented an estimated 15 per cent of farmers in the market.

The price increase to farmers will give them an additional $450,000 monthly over the return under the Federal Milk Marketing Order in Cleveland. The milk order price for August was expected to be about $4.60.

In Columbus, Edward Haaf, chief of the division of food and dairies of the Ohio Department of Agriculture, said the milk price increase in northeast Ohio "may have some influence" on milk prices elsewhere in the state.

But he added: "The extent of it will be pretty hard to tell at this time."

Haaf said, "at this time of the year—as farm production begins to decrease—it's only a natural thing for milk prices to increase."

Dr. James R. Hay, state agriculture director, saw the increase in prices as representing "a definite trend."

"Probably you will see some effect in other areas in Ohio," he said, adding that the action in Cleveland, Akron and Canton probably will have some influence in neighboring states as well.

Hay, in Cleveland for the American Veterinary Medical Assn. convention, said it would be impossible at this time to pinpoint areas in Ohio which would be affected.

there until starting his descent Tuesday afternoon. Winzen Research, Inc., Minneapolis, project contractor for the Air Force, said the balloon would be driven 30 miles southeast on ascent, then float 400 to 500 miles across North Dakota before starting its descent near Miles City in eastern Montana.

Simons, a slightly balding father of four, entered the aluminum capsule at 11 p. m. Sunday to breathe a mixture of oxygen and helium for some 10 hours before the launching. This was done to prevent the possibility of the painful and probably fatal bends in his pressurized "vacuum bottle."

Simons, wearing an emergency pressure suit, rode in the gondola as it and the collapsed balloon were trucked to the bottom of the mile-long mine crater.

Ore laden mining trucks provided an incongruous contrast to the silence he was to experience as his balloon rose into space. On reaching maximum altitude Simons will be suspended above 99 per cent of the earth's atmosphere, a target for cosmic rays and unrelenting sunlight, unobstructed by the earth's gases.

Ohio's Highway Costs Double National Par

Buckeye State OKs 60.3 Miles under New Federal Program

WASHINGTON (AP)—It costs more than twice as much to build highways in Ohio as the national average, the Bureau of Public Roads reported today.

Ohio has advertised or awarded contracts or actually has started construction for 60.3 miles of highways under the federal interstate highway building program, the bureau said in a report that covers the period through July 31.

Total cost of the Ohio projects advertised, awarded or underway is $89,081,000. That is an average of $1,500,000 a mile.

Nationally, 1,928.8 miles of highway contracts have been advertised, awarded or are underway at a total cost of $1,037,117,000. The national per-mile average cost is about $538,000.

Here are some comparative figures: California, 95.5 miles at a cost of $96,846,000; Illinois 38.1 miles for $62,489,000; Indiana six-tenths of one mile for $365,000; Kentucky 7.4 miles for $1,640,000; Michigan 51.7 miles for $39,609,000; New York 44.9 miles for $135,533,000; Pennsylvania 58.5 miles for $79,027,000; Texas 293.3 miles for $86,134,000.

THE BUREAU announced that during July contracts for construction of 232 miles of the interstate system were awarded at a total cost of $122 million or about $525,000 a mile.

The vast road building project now underway calls for a 41,000-mile interstate system, linking 90 per cent of all American cities of 50,000 population or more with limited access divided highways. The Highway Act of 1956 assumed completion of the network in 13-15 years, at a total cost of $27½ billion.

Rising prices, however, appear certain to raise the total cost. At the same time, income for the highway trust fund, which finances the road building through special taxes on gasoline, tires etc., is running below previous estimates. Highway officials now believe it will take 15 or more years to complete the job.

The contracts awarded during July include work on overpasses, bridges and cloverleafs. Thus, today's announcement does not mean work on 22 miles of actual (Continued on Page Two)

Dems Try To Air Civil Rights Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—Northern Democrats moved today to pry the civil rights bill out of the House Rules Committee. But Republicans held aloof in hopes of getting a measure closer to President Eisenhower's program.

Four Democrats on the 12-member rules group planned to present a formal written demand for a meeting of the committee to take up the bill.

With four of the committeemen being Southern Democrats bitterly opposed to civil rights legislation, the Northern Democrats needed the help of at least three of the four GOP members of the committee to force the bill to the House floor for action.

But for the moment at least, the Republicans were reported withholding support.

GOP strategy reportedly was to utilize the Republican balance of power on the committee to seek concessions from the Northern Democrats who want the House to accept the Senate civil rights bill with a jury trial amendment narrowed to voting rights cases.

THE HOUSE originally passed a bill that conformed generally to Eisenhower administration proposals. It would give the attorney general authority to seek federal court injunctions against violations of civil rights in general. Persons violating such injunctions could be jailed by a judge for contempt and there would be no jury trial.

The Senate stripped from the bill the general civil rights authority and limited the injunction provision to voting rights cases.

City Folks Get 'Full Share' Of Tax Dollar

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Wint Smith (R-Kans.) thinks it unfair that the farmer is so often singled out as a beneficiary of the tax dollar.

City dwellers get their full share, too, he said today, asserting that the federal urban redevelopment program is "designed to milk the U. S. treasury of tax funds."

"This program provides that the federal government will provide our large cities with your tax dollars to tear down these so-called unsightly and blighted areas," he said.

Bills generally authorizing $2 billion for such programs as urban redevelopment, slum clearance and public housing passed the House or are being considered in the Senate, he said. He added that the budget cannot be cut and taxes cannot be reduced if Congress continues to pass such authorizations.

Smith said it gets a big "monotony" to Congressmen from rural districts to hear so many references made to farm subsidies and farm programs.

"Just for the record," he said, "I want to point out that the big cities are recipients of billions of dollars for their housing programs."

"If there is any group of businessmen and allied industries who have received more benefit from federal aid in the form of guaranteed mortgages than the builders of houses, I just don't know who they are."

McElroy Given OK

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate confirmed by voice vote today President Eisenhower's nomination of Neil H. McElroy as the new secretary of defense.

Dulles Says U.S. Security Is Endangered

Senate Panel Hearing New Round of Pleas From Eisenhower Aides

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles told senators today that "the whole foundation of our security structure is endangered" by the House cut of $809,650,000 in the foreign aid bill.

If Congress is unwilling to provide the funds to help allies maintain their defenses, Dulles said, "we face a new insecurity and a future of grave risks."

"The Senate faces a great responsibility to save the nation from this peril," he said. Dulles headed a team of four top administration figures bidding at a meeting of the Senate Appropriations Committee for upward revision of the House bill. Accompanying him to the session were John B. Hollister, outgoing foreign aid director; Adm. Arthur W. Radford, retired chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, and Gen. Nathan F. Twining, the new chairman.

BEFORE the session began, Sen. Mundt (R-SD) said he would try to put Congress on record as favoring a requirement that nations receiving economic loans must make some annual repayment.

There was no immediate indication as to the administration attitude toward this proposal.

The Dulles team met with the appropriations committee behind closed doors, but their statements were made public.

Their visit with senators was only part of an intensive administration effort to loosen the congressional purse strings for foreign aid.

As another part of it, President Eisenhower invited House Speaker Rayburn (D-Tex.) to the White House for breakfast and a talk which Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said dealt primarily with the foreign aid question.

Eisenhower frequently meets alone with Republican congressional leaders, but rarely confers alone with Democratic leaders.

Teacher Union Chief Raps Ike On School Bill

CHICAGO (AP)—The president of the AFL-CIO American Federation of Teachers said today President Eisenhower "surrendered to special interests" and thus permitted Congress to defeat the federal aid to schools bill.

Carl J. Meigs, in a prepared address to the 41st annual AFT convention, accused the President of "vacillation" and "riding both sides of the fence."

"Two days before the bill's defeat by a three-vote margin in the House," Meigs said, "the President could have made 20 phone calls and the bill would have passed easily. Instead he surrendered to special interests because federal aid represents a transition in the school tax structure."

Meigs said teachers' pay is far from adequate. He urged greater emphasis on unionization of teachers to end the teacher shortage.

He cited several goals of his union. Among them: Universal salary schedule starting at $5,000 and reaching $10,000 in eight annual increments; enactment of tenure laws in all states to protect teachers against arbitrary discharge; and supplementation of retirement pensions with Social Security.

London Strike Ended

Suspects Face Grand Jury

Charged with Tink's Burglary

Two burglary suspects apprehended by quick action of the local sheriff's department and city police early Friday morning were bound to the Pickaway County Grand Jury today.

Claude Edward Grant, 33, and William Diamond, 34, both of Columbus, were held for jury trial under $3,000 bond each. Bond was set in Circleville Municipal Court.

The two men are accused of entering Tink's Tavern on Route 23 about four miles north of Circleville. They are charged with taking whiskey and brandy valued at $7 and $7.50 in cash.

The Columbus men were apprehended by Deputy Sheriff Dwight Radcliff and Charles Felkey and Police Sgt. Leroy Hawks.

GRANT was picked up by Deputy Radcliff who discovered him sitting in a car parked near the burglary scene. Diamond was apprehended by Sgt. Hawks and Deputy Felkey who found him hiding in some shrubbery at the tavern. According to the lawmen, both suspects have criminal records. Diamond's previous convictions include jail terms for armed robbery and burglary, with Grant being convicted for carrying a concealed weapon.

Sleep Pills Kill Churchill's In-Law

LONDON (AP)—An overdose of sleeping pills took the life Sunday of Anthony Beauchamp, husband of Sir Winston Churchill's actress daughter Sarah.

The 39-year-old society photographer and television producer apparently died alone in his apartment overlooking Hyde Park. He and his wife had been living apart for three years.

Sarah Churchill, who has spent most of the last three years making television films in the United States, stayed with her parents when in England.

It was reported she and her husband had an agreement they would not get a divorce while Sir Winston, now 82, was alive.

Gallia Prisoner Kills Cellmate

Murder Charge Slated To Be Filed by Sheriff

GALLIPOLIS (AP)—Gallia County Sheriff Oscar Baird said a first degree murder charge will be lodged today against a 42-year-old inmate and wounding another in a jail cell here Saturday.

Cell Blankenship, of near Vinton, is accused of killing Borden, 26, of Porter, who was being held in Gallia County Jail on charges of contributing to the delinquency of a minor.

Sheriff Baird said Blankenship also shot Arnold Cooper, 26, of Porter. Cooper Sunday night was reported in satisfactory condition at Holzer Hospital here with a bullet wound near his heart.

Sheriff's officials said Cooper is a Negro as was Borden. Blankenship, a white man, shared a cell with the two.

Baird said his gun was suddenly grabbed by Blankenship when the sheriff was bringing another prisoner into the jail. Blankenship tried to escape, but Baird slammed the cell door shut on him.

Blankenship immediately turned and fired at Cooper and Borden, the sheriff said. Baird said Blankenship has refused to give any reason for firing at the two inmates. The sheriff said he talked Sunday night with Cooper in the hospital and that Cooper had no idea why Blankenship turned on him. He said neither he nor Borden had fought or argued with Blankenship.

Baird said Blankenship is being held under guard, but he declined to say whether the prisoner is still at the county jail here. He said "security" reasons prevented him from divulging Blankenship's whereabouts.

The sheriff said he will also file charges for attempted escape against Blankenship, and that he may later bring charges of shooting with intent to kill against Blankenship for firing at Cooper.

Detroit Pays Double Fine For Weekend Traffic Trouble

Motorists accused of driving under the influence of intoxicants headed the list of violations heard in Circleville Municipal Court during the weekend.

One of the motorists, Elijah Ison, 21, Detroit, Mich., paid a double fine. He was fined $100 and costs, sentenced to three days in jail and had his driver's license suspended for three months for driving while under the influence of alcohol plus $5 and costs for having no operator's license. He was arrested by Circleville police.

Two other drivers booked for intoxicated driving were John M. Speakman, 60, 133 N. Scioto St., and Doyle Rapp Jr., 29, Route 2, Frankfort. Each was fined $100 and costs, sentenced to three days in jail and had his operator's license suspended for six months. Speakman was arrested by the State Highway Patrol and Rapp by city police.

William H. Stevens, 48, 676 E. Mound St., arrested by the sheriff's department for driving while intoxicated, was bound to the Pickaway County Grand Jury. Pleading innocent to the accusation, he was freed under $200 bond.

OTHER motorists arrested by the State Highway Patrol were: Robert Baso, 29, Columbus, $30 and costs for speeding at 90 miles per hour, and John D. Sturgill, 31, Columbus, $25 and costs for speeding at 75 miles per hour in a 50-mile zone.

James E. See, 37, Louisa, Ky., was fined $25 and costs for operating a vehicle without assured clear distance. She was arrested by the sheriff's department.

For 87th Birthday, Baruch Wants Only To See Peace

OLD WESTBURY, N.Y. (AP)—Bernard M. Baruch, adviser to presidents and park-bench philosopher, celebrates his 87th birthday today with one wish: to see the dawn of world peace.

The Camden, S.C., native, who amassed three million dollars by the age of 32, will spend the day at a summer cottage here on Long Island. He expects visits from his three children.

Sunday, Baruch sat on a porch and talked informally about making his first million dollars, the difficulty of finding a formula for betting on horse races and denying that he never drank intoxicating liquor.

"I've never been a teetotaler of anything in my life," he said. The famous stock market trader and government fiscal expert grew serious when the conversation drifted to world peace and the Baruch plan for atomic control, which the Soviet Union rejected.

"If I had one wish to be granted me, I should like to see a start made toward permanent peace in the world. Agreements between nations will not guarantee it.

"There must be an international authority which owns all the natural resources and fissionable materials required to wage atomic war. The authority must also have control of the necessary scientific and metallurgical processes."

"Then all the world's atom bombs must be handed over to the authority for debombing. The danger of contamination by fallout is thus eliminated because there would be no testing of atomic weapons. All atomic energy will be utilized for peaceful purposes."

Baruch's 6-foot-4 frame is sparse and bent only slightly. He talks in a rush, indicating that a brain which was at the service of every president since Woodrow Wilson is still keen.

Would Russia ever accept his plan for world peace? "I believe that public opinion, the Russian people, will eventually force their leaders to approve it."

One of four sons of Dr. Simon and Belle Wolfe Baruch, he moved with his family to New York at the age of 11. A graduate of City College of New York, Baruch entered Wall Street as a runner at $3 a week.

The first volume of his autobiography, "My Own Story," will be published today. The second is scheduled for the fall of next year. He hopes to work on it today if visits from his children, Mrs. Belle Wilcox, Mrs. Eene M. Samstag and Bernard M. Baruch Jr., and a rush of telegrams will allow.

"Who the hell wants to celebrate an 87th birthday," he exclaimed. "That's all right for youngsters of 60 or 70."

Dulles Says

ping on the administration's request, got out a statement saying there would be "no capitulation to substantial increases" if made by the Senate.

Radford's statement to the senators, as made public by the committee, stressed that this country would have to spend a great deal more on its own armed forces if there is a major cutback in help to allied forces.

DULLES ARGUED that the House cuts would bring into question the dependability of United States policies, and that the free world might then be disinclined to follow this country's leadership. He added:

"It should be clear beyond a doubt that the House bill does, I believe unintentionally, it is not just saving money, it is dangerously eroding the security policies which, for a decade, have been sponsored by Democratic and Republican leadership."

Referring to the House cut from $900 million to $621 million in defense economic supports, Dulles said over $600 million is needed in Korea, free China, Viet Nam, Pakistan and Turkey to support the 2,100,000 men they now have under arms.

Noting that all five lie along the Sino-Soviet border, he said it is the considered judgment of all in authority that the House cuts would make it impossible to maintain the strength necessary to defend them.

Similarly, Hollister said the cuts in defense supports would force Korea, Turkey, Formosa, Pakistan, and Viet Nam to reduce their defense forces or let their economies undergo danger setbacks.

Businessmen Divided on Boom Prospect

Upsurge Next Fall
Given Study by Top
Financial Students

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP) — Businessmen appear to be as divided as stock market operators and government and banking economists on the prospects for a boom this fall.

A survey of 205 industrial corporations today shows the majority of their top men still optimistic but also reveals a growing minority that now looks for a downturn in production and sales — and especially in profits.

A similar taking of the consumer pulse recently also showed uneasiness spreading among those with the final say-so as to which way the economy will go. Consumers this summer are less confident than they were last winter that good times will go on forever.

Brokerage houses have been preaching caution in a stock market making wide swings with small volume. Most people seem to have taken to the sidelines.

Financial circles gossip about what they interpret as a split in opinion among Federal Reserve System officials as to whether business is heading up or down.

The gossip fastens on the New York Federal Reserve bank's failure to follow quickly the action by eight other districts in hiking the discount rate. Any such hike is usually tapped as a fear that inflation and speculative boom are in the cards. Holding to the old interest rate or lowering it is usually interpreted as a fear of deflation rather than inflation and of a business slowdown rather than a new boom.

In view of all this difference of opinion the National Industrial Conference Board asked 205 industrial concerns how they felt business would be the rest of this year.

It reports today that the majority are optimistic, expecting new orders and dollar sales to increase, planning to boost their rates of production, and hoping for larger before-tax profits.

The board — a nonprofit organization doing research in the field of economics and business — finds more than half of the 205 firms looking for larger dollar value of new orders this fall than last and a bit less than half expecting more new orders than in the first half of this year.

Two out of three think dollar sales will be higher than a year ago and a half expect an increase this fall over last spring. But many note that price increases will make most of the difference.

Better profits before taxes are anticipated by 53 per cent; smaller profits by 23 per cent; and a continuation of first half 1957 levels by 24 per cent.

Taxicab Carrying Chagrined Passenger

CHICAGO (AP) — Unearthly shrieks and moans emanated from somewhere in William Beck's taxicab.

Inspection disclosed it wasn't a human. Beck, 42, and a realist among hack drivers, rejected the theory that his cab was haunted.

Pinpointing the apparent source of the cries, he jacked up the right rear wheel and probed a recess in the fender. Out came a thoroughly chagrined cat which scampered off without so much as a glance at the meter.

"THERE'S NO PLACE LIKE HOME... BUILD ONE"

"Mary Haworth's Mail"

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: I am a career girl, 31, single—and I'd like more than anything to be married and have children. A bachelor, 52, is employed by my firm—and I have admired and loved him almost from the first day I saw him, five years ago.

The peculiar torment I suffer, wondering about his intentions (if any), is driving me crazy. I say this lightly, but the suspense is taking its toll.

At company functions Ed is often at my side, and in the company cafeteria he often shares a table with me (and other employees). Also our sense of humor is congenial. Co-workers have noticed his partiality to me, and some have commented that he "goes for" me.

Well, that isn't much evidence of romance, perhaps—but it's the best I've got.

What confuses me is, if Ed sees me alone, he gives me the go-by. Frankly, I'm not too experienced with men, and don't know quite what to do. I like him so well that I would be willing to wait forever, I suppose—except that I can't wait until I am 50, if I am to hear the patter of little feet in my house (our house).

If I were a little bolder I might know what to do—or rather, might go ahead and do it. But I don't want to ask him for a date. And maybe I've dreamed unduly about the whole business. I haven't seen another man in five years whom I would even consider dating. Men my age seem silly or dull. I've often felt that way about my contemporaries, as I am a fairly serious person.

How hopeless are bachelors after 50? I sometimes think that's the crux question. Or is wishful thinking my problem?

N. W.
DEAR N.W.: You and Ed are two of a kind, it seems, in terms of feeling, self-consciously, that you don't know how (or would be afraid) to deal with "the moment of truth" about your mutual interest—if you were face to face, alone together. ("The moment of truth" is a facetious label applied by sophisticates to a first exchange, between a smitten pair, about their sentiments).

Back of the mask of nonchalance worn by Ed and you in group situations, each of you feels unworthy and unprepared to drop your guard and honestly disclose, by words or actions, a sense of special affinity for—or attraction to—the other, in a private conversation.

Each of you assumes unconsciously that you've nothing desirable or acceptable to offer, in your own right, of love, companionship, friendship and such.

It is this type of misgiving, based on a damaged self-estimate, that underlies Ed's custom of paying you noticeable attentions only when others are present, and spryly evading tete-a-tete opportunities. Similarly, the same misgiving (in your heart) inhibits you from making positive constructive efforts to get on a closer footing with Ed.

As for what to do about Ed—don't ask him for a date, of course. But DO offer friendship: in voice, manner and quiet interest in all that interests him. Try to make it easy for him to ask you for a date, by caring about things that he enjoys: golf, swimming, riding, art shows, ballet, or what-have you. If he doesn't take the hint and give you a break when thus approached, you ought to write him off as a lost cause.

M. H.

5 American Boy Scouts Tell Experiences on Korea Visit

SEOUL, Korea (AP)—Five American boy scouts touring South Korea reported today they have found the country different from what they thought it to be like.

The five scouts arrived Aug. 12 with scout leader Raymond J. Dunphy of Warren, Ohio, for a 10-day tour of the country on an exchange program sponsored by the Boy Scouts of America.

One of the first topics the American scouts took up, naturally, was food. Several liked it very much. Others thought the Korean breakfast was too big.

Howard Tucker, 17, of Dayton, Ohio, said he couldn't finish the big bowl of rice given him for breakfast.

"If I had eaten it all I could have done without eating anything all day," he commented on Korean breakfasts.

The youngest of the group, Daniel C. Leonhardt, 15, of Cincinnati, found the Korean custom of taking off shoes at home very interesting and advisable.

"It sure will save lots of work in house cleaning," he said.

He said South Korean department stores were "very much like one back in the states" with a variety of goods.

John C. Crawford of Warren, said he was greatly impressed with President Syngman Rhee, whom the group visited Wednesday.

"He was very kind and talked with us more than 20 minutes," the 17-year-old said enthusiastically, adding "the president displayed a keen interest in the future of Korea and the Korean Scouts movement."

Michael T. Moss of Buckhannon, W. Va., said he has been doing sightseeing and meeting people but had no chance to date Korean girls.

The fifth scout, Robert B. Weddle Jr., 17, of Pickering, Ky., said, "the countryside of Korea is very much like back home, with low hills and green fields."

BUDAPEST (AP)—Red-ruled Hungary has decided to send its foreign minister to the United Nations next month to challenge a U. N. report on how Soviet tanks and troops smashed last fall's anti-Communist revolt.

Estranged Husband Rations Her Clothes

CHICAGO (AP) — A suburban Evanston woman, Mrs. Sammie Reiling, 21, told the judge that her husband, Harry, 32, let her take only the clothes she was wearing when she left him July 24 and has since permitted her only one change of garments.

Reiling said this would make her less attractive to other men.

Judge B. Fain Tucker ruled that Reiling must return all her clothing. Mrs. Reiling has filed suit for divorce charging cruelty.

Little U.N. in Washington Requires No Translators

By ANNETTE DAVIS
WASHINGTON (AP) — There's a little United Nations in Washington where the members don't need translators to understand one another. At a recent meeting one member nudged and pulled on the sleeve of her neighbor until she got him to admire the picture of a tiger she had found in a book. She was 3-year-old Anjum Ahmad, newly arrived from Pakistan, and she spoke no English.

Her mother had enrolled her in the Powell Pre-School Play Program, one of approximately 60 cooperative nurseries sponsored by the District of Columbia's Department of Recreation.

The district program for 3 and 4-year-olds was started in 1939 and, according to a survey made last year, is the only city-sponsored cooperative nursery in the country. Each group has a trained recreation leader who is assisted by the mothers who serve one morning a week.

The nurseries have always had many foreign children, mostly from the embassies. Last year children from 12 countries in Europe, Asia and South America were enrolled.

Rhode Islanders Pass Honesty Test

PROVIDENCE, R. I. (AP)—Police said today an unintended test showed Providence residents are honest to a large degree.

The unintentional test began Saturday night when Gordon Reid, 26, tossed $800 in small bills from the roof of an apartment building where he is superintendent.

He admitted later he was under

Traffic was tied up for some time as men, women and children scampered to collect the bills.

Residents read in the Sunday paper that the money was not Reid's. By this morning, 35 persons had returned $600 of the money.

Divided Congress Not Bad

Congressional leaders now have adjournment scheduled for late August. There will be a hasty mopping up operation.

Many legislative tidbits will go by the boards in the interest of keeping popular issues alive for the campaign year of 1958. These include federal power, a $1.5 billion public works authorization, minimum wages, federal control of union welfare funds, relaxation of federal control over natural gas producers, tax cuts and social security liberalization.

This emphasizes the fact that campaigning is becoming continuous. Formerly an off-year session of Congress legislated freely by mutual consent. Now much of the congressional action is based on stimulation of the voters' party preferences during a campaign.

In a country so closely divided between two parties that they share control of the government, there is no hope of the swift completion of big legislative programs. And this is a situation that is not all bad.

If something really has to be done in Congress, the two parties get together and do it. Most other matters can well take the slower road.

Women Dislike, Fear Cigars

NEW YORK (AP)—One of the odd facts about those odd creatures known as women is that they are secretly afraid of cigars.

They may deny it, but it's so. Ask the average woman who says she hates cigars what her objections to them are, and she'll reply:

"Oh, they smell terrible and they make the men who smoke them look simply repulsive."

Then, assuming an air of balanced feminine tolerance (which is about as unbalanced as a human being can get), she'll add:

"Now, I don't mind cigarettes, and it's a pleasure to see a woman to see the fun a man gets out of a pipe. But cigars...ugh...They're nasty. I don't see why any man wants to smoke them."

And what is the real truth? The real truth is the lady is a liar. The real truth is that she doesn't hate cigars because they are messy or smell up the house—but because she is afraid of them.

And why?

Because a little old cigar is a potential rival because, in this woman-dominated world, it is a subtle weapon by which a man can seek to regain his equal rights...because it can give a man something a woman often can't—a feeling of serene power.

"A good cigar," wrote E. G. Bulwer-Lytton, "is as great a comfort to a man as a good cry to a woman."

Summing up the situation even better in one of the most terribly accurate lines in English literature, Rudyard Kipling said:

"A woman is only a woman, but a good cigar is a smoke."

Consciously or unconsciously, most women realize these things are true. And naturally a woman secretly hates and fears the cigar that can give such a solace to her mortal prey, man. If the critter is going to get any solace in this dubious world, she believes she ought to provide it—not a cigar.

Woman has no such animosity toward the cigarette or pipe, because she has found from experience it is no trouble to dominate the kind of men addicted to them. Your male cigarette smoker is quite likely to be nervous and fearful, and anxious for feminine protection. Your pipe smoker is often a dullard, a victim of his own fumes and is easily led.

But put a stout cigar in the mouth of even the most mouse-like man and he stands a head higher, and grows taller with every puff. His dreams become bigger, too. His cigar is a cloud-spreading word of freedom. It is his inspiration, his consolation. He becomes a Napoleon—perhaps a hush league Napoleon, only a few moments away from Waterloo, but nevertheless a Napoleon.

He can stand on his own two feet. He has no need to lean on woman or woman's advice—at least not until the cigar goes out.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

A REPORTER got a visa for a trip to Moscow for himself and a family and happily planned to settle there for a year or so. At the border, however, customs officials treated him as a suspicious character, and after searching his belongings thoroughly, insisted that he remove all labels from his luggage, canned goods, etc., he was bringing with him.

That may explain a certain difficulty his Russian servant girl experienced with the canned goods in her first week on the job. For one main course she proudly served tennis balls, smothered in sour cream!

The bookkeeper in a mid-town publisher's office didn't show up one Monday, but phoned at noon to explain, "I won't be able to come in this week. My wife broke a leg last night." The boss was not too sympathetic. "Just how," he demanded, "does that prevent you from coming to work?"

"You don't understand, boss," wailed the bookkeeper. "It was my leg she broke."

Motion Sickness Curable

By Herman N. Bundesen, M.D.

You don't have to travel by sea or air to fall victim to the misery of motion sickness.

Although we are famed as a nation on wheels, thousands of American motorists each year find they are sensitive to the motion of an auto.

Motion sickness doesn't have any respect for physical fitness, mental stability, or even age. Even the most experienced traveler, under specific conditions, can become the victim of this universal malady.

Motion sickness doesn't necessarily mean nausea and vomiting, although in many instances it is just that.

Some of the other symptoms include: a sudden feeling of apathy and lethargy. The passenger or driver wants to be left alone; he becomes detached.

Unless something is done promptly to relieve the situation, the victim is apt to become pale, yawn frequently and have an unsteady gait. His hands and feet will be cold and he will experience hot flashes. He will have a craving for fresh air.

Next comes mental depression. He won't be able to stand bright lights and loud noises.

He has no interest in food of any kind. In fact, he isn't interested in much of anything. He'll have a headache and a dry, furry tongue.

Then he experiences gastric distress, giddiness and drowsiness. He loses stability.

Finally, nausea and vomiting may bring some relief.

All this, I think you will agree, can spoil any vacation or holiday trip. But with most of our new motion sickness remedies, you don't have to suffer any such torments.

An Army, Navy and Air Force Motion Sickness Team made a study of the entire situation. They reported in the Journal of the American Medical Association that meclizine (Bonamine) has a long-lasting preventive action than most other anti-motion sickness remedies.

A single dose often prevents motion sickness for as long as 24 hours.

So if you are planning a long drive, ask your doctor's advice about arming yourself with an anti-motion sickness preparation as a precaution.

Question and Answer

W. D.: What causes fever blisters to appear?

Answer: Fever blisters are caused by a germ too small to be seen with the ordinary microscope. Often fever blisters occur following infection or injury.

Church Can Change, But Not the Gospel

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—A Swedish bishop today defended the church's right to reform but said that right does not justify "an itching eagerness to change."

Bishop Bo H. Gieritz of the Church of Sweden's Gothenburg diocese, in an address prepared for the Lutheran World Federation, said there is one thing in the church which can never be changed—the Gospel.

"No authority in the church has the power to alter the smallest letter in this Gospel," the Swedish cleric said. "Here there can be no willingness to compromise."

The World Today

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON (AP)—Today is the third anniversary of a law which the government has treated like poison ivy. It's stayed away from it almost completely.

This law was passed at a time when Democrats and Republicans in Congress were trying to outdo each other in their anti-Communist fervor just before going home to face the voters in the 1954 elections.

This week a government lawyer, looking at a copy of the 1954 act on his desk, said: "From the way this law was put together, I think members of Congress must have written it on the back of match-boxes."

Congress started out that year with talk of outlawing the Communist party by making membership in it a crime. Realizing this might not stand up in court, the lawmakers wound up weaseling with a statement which merely said: "Therefore, the Communist party should be outlawed."

It sounded big but didn't mean anything because it didn't do any outlawing.

This act of three years ago did attempt to say the party should be denied the "rights, privileges and immunities" enjoyed by legal organizations. In three years what rights, privileges and immunities has the party lost?

None, so far as this writer could find. For example: it was thought in 1954 the party might under the new law, be denied the use of the mails for its newspaper, the Daily Worker.

But the Post Office has taken no action of any kind against the party. Nor could this writer find any other government agency which had taken action under the 1954 act with the exception—explained later—of the Justice Department.

And there's a reason: If the government used the 1954 act against the party it might get so tangled up with what it is trying to do to the party under a previous act, passed in 1950, that all its long efforts under the 1950 law might be wrecked.

In 1950 Congress passed the Communist Control Act, which called for forcing the party to register as a Russian agent and reveal its membership. In addition, the law imposed a whole series of prohibitions and penalties on party members.

Before any of those things could happen, these steps would have to be taken:

The government would have to charge the party—before the Subversive Activities Control Board—with being a Russian agent. (The government did.)

The SACB would have to hold hearings to let the party answer the charges. (The board did and the hearings lasted months.) Then the board would have to rule the party was truly a Moscow tool. (It did.)

Still nothing could happen until the party sought through appeals to the courts to get the ruling declared invalid and the act itself ruled unconstitutional. (The party carried its fight to the courts.)

This whole chain of events began seven years ago, shortly after the 1950 act was passed. The case has now been in the courts for years, and it may take more years before there is a final decision from the Supreme Court.

But if now, while the test of the 1950 act is pending, the government began doing some of the other things to the party called for by the 1954 act, the Communists might, and no doubt would do this:

They might try, by legal argument about persecution, to get the courts to throw out all the government has been trying to do under the 1950 law.

The 1954 act in large part makes additions, or amendments, to the 1950 act. The government has thought it safe to use only one of them, one which lets it move against Communist-infiltrated unions.

The government has started action—also before the SACB—against two unions: the United Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers of America; and the International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers.

But—even there the government is in knots. Before anything comes of its case against the two unions, the courts will have to uphold what the SACB has already done under the 1950 act.

If the courts finally knock out the 1950 act, the SACB itself will be knocked out and anything it ruled now about the two unions mentioned above wouldn't count anyway.

Guard Freedom of the Press

By George Sokolsky

It used to be a truism in journalism that when a man bites a dog, it is news. Nothing was said about which one got the rabies. The American Bar Assn. meeting in London must have been more than somewhat shocked listening to a British editor, Percy Hoskins, tell them how badly court news and particularly criminal news is reported in Great Britain where the courts close out free reporting of current trials on the ground that they are sub judice. A reporter or editor can be held for contempt of court for doing his duty to the public.

The more they know, the less they understand.

Hoskins answers this by saying:

"...The fact is also acknowledged in the common saying that justice must not merely be done but that it must be seen to be done. Few people today would dispute these principles. It might then be thought that the old battle between the press and its adversaries is ended. However, this would be a mistake and we have recently had examples which show that the freedom of the press, and therefore of the public, is not as firmly established as it ought to be."

I like two phrases: "Justice must not merely be done but that it must be seen to be done." And "freedom of the press, and therefore of the public!" The press, as the source of public information, is enormously important; as a business, it can only have significance to those who own it or are dependent upon it.

When a publisher or editor or reporter slants the news to satisfy his private pleasures or spite, he commits a rash disservice because he misses the nature of his business which is to serve the public not to sell it. The press is at its strongest when those who control its policies have few friends and avoid feelings of personal antagonism; when they walk their way lonely and aloof, seeking no favors and granting none.

The best press was what used to be called the "Yellow Press," published in this country by such men as William Randolph Hearst, Joseph Pulitzer, James Gordon Bennett and similar batters through life, men of unusual unpopularity who left behind them astounding heritages of uncompromising wars against those who held power by abusing the rights of others. They and their kind would not have tolerated the prissiness of judges who want newspapers to tell only of their small virtues.

A Soviet arms buildup in the Middle East is reported. If we don't watch out, the Russians will fold up the Arabs and quietly steal them away.

If we could develop a substitute for oil, we wouldn't have to worry about the Arabs. We don't need a substitute for Arabs.

The labor department announced the July job total was more than 67,000,000. No wonder the Communists call us capitalist slaves.

Henry Wallace used to be ridiculed for saying the country could provide 60,000,000 jobs. It just goes to show Henry was a little off.

Khrushchev told East Berliners "capitalism is in its death throes." Sixty-seven million people going to work every morning may look like a wake at that.

There's been a lot of talk about the government's "tight money" policy. That's because there's a lot of interest.

There's nothing to worry about over a "tight money" policy. Except that the government hasn't been tight with it.

Judge OKs Bride Taller than Mate

GATESHEAD, England (AP)—What difference does it make to true love if a girl is four inches taller than her boy friend?

None at all, a magistrate's court ruled here. The court gave 19-year-old Sunday school teacher Lille Robson, 5 feet 10 inches tall, permission to marry Ray Moss, a coal miner who stands 5 feet 6 inches.

Lille's parents had filed an objection on grounds that Moss was not tall enough. The girl's father, Sid Robson said: "He is not the type for her. She could pick him up with one hand."

Beautiful Hill Gardens Scene of Outdoor Wedding

Couple Exchange Vows at Twilight

Miss Mary Louise Evans became the bride of Mr. Robert Keith Horwood at an outdoor wedding held in the Hill Gardens at Kingston. The couple exchanged vows at sundown, Saturday. The ceremony was timed so that shadows lengthened and twilight fell as the service ended. Lights flooded the scene as the first strains of the wedding recessional were heard.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Lyle Evans, Route 1, Kingston. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George T. Horwood, 411 Furnace Road, Conneaut.

The Rev. Chester D. Marquis Jr., University Pastor, Presbyterian Church, Athens, performed the double ring ceremony before an improvised altar the background of which was a flower and fern entwined trellis. The kneeling bench was flanked by vertically arranged yellow daisy mums matching the yellow daisies of the trellis.

Miss Sue Hill was at the organ, the strains of which were heard all over the gardens. Mrs. William Strehle was the vocalist.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, had chosen a crisp embroidered organza over taffeta. The fitted bodice had a wide, draped neckline and a full skirt with a full train. The very bouffant skirt of many tiers fell gracefully over a Dior hoop extending into a chapel train. Her finger tip veil of French illusion fell from a crown of sequins and pearls. She carried a bouquet of white orchids, gladioli and white chrysanthemums with white streamers.

She carried out the tradition of "something old, something new, something borrowed and something blue, and a lucky sixpence in her shoe."

Miss Sonja Evans, maid of honor and sister of the bride, wore a ballerina length gown of mint green organza over taffeta. She carried a cascade bouquet of yellow daisy chrysanthemums. She wore matching mits and an organza headress of garden flowers.

Miss Linda Evans, the younger sister of the bride, and Mrs. Dallas DeLong, classmate of the bride, wore identical gowns of yellow organza over taffeta. They carried cascade bouquets of bronze daisy chrysanthemums. Their headresses were yellow organza with garden flowers.

The flower girl was little Miss Susan Gildone, cousin of the bridegroom. She had a gown of mint organza over taffeta. Her matching headress was similar to the other attendants of the bride. She carried yellow rose petals in her basket.

The ringbearer, Master Jay Evans, cousin of the bride, carried the ring on a white satin pillow.

The best man was Mr. Donald Horwood, older brother of the bridegroom. Ushers were Mr. James Horwood, younger brother of the bridegroom, and Mr. Herbert Evans, cousin of the bride.

The bride's mother was attired in a beige sheath dress with dark brown accessories. Her corsage was white feathered carnations.

The bridegroom's mother wore a beige dress with white accessories and her corsage was similar to that of the bride's mother.

The reception was also held in the Hill Garden. The refreshments were served on the patio from a table centered with a wedding cake of yellow and white topped with a miniature bride and groom. The punch bowl was at one end. The table was covered with a rust colored ruffled cloth. Festoons of fern, yellow daisy chrysanthemums, gold leaves and maline bows encircled the cake and ended on the ruffle of the cloth. Background music was played during the entire reception.

Hostesses were: Miss Joyce Galloway, Miss Marilyn Schweitzer, Mrs. Clarence Eagley, Mrs. Roger Ross and Mrs. James McMullen was at the guest book.

The newly wedded couple took a short wedding trip after which they will be home at 5675 Beech Daly North, Dearborn, Mich. For her going-away costume the bride wore a brown sheath dress with beige duster and carried the corsage from her wedding bouquet.

Ted vs Mickey Battle Tops Baseball Menu

Williams Now Holding .392 Average; Mantle Ups His to .385

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The spectacular battle between Ted Williams of the Boston Red Sox and Mickey Mantle of the New York Yankees for the American League batting title overshadowed the pennant races today.

The Yankees stretched their American League lead to 7½ games after a doubleheader sweep over Baltimore Sunday and Milwaukee's National League leaders held to an imposing 6½-game edge despite two losses to St. Louis. But the baseball spotlight centered around the duel between Williams and Mantle.

Mantle had three hits in seven times at bat as the Yankees defeated Baltimore 7-0 and 3-2. He boosted his average to .385. Williams had one hit in four times at bat as Washington defeated Boston 6-4. His league-leading average dipped a point to .392.

With a little over a month of the season remaining, the chances of one or both finishing with 400 are far brighter than they were a month ago when both were hitting about 30 points below their current mark. Not since 1941, when Williams batted .406, has any major leaguer achieved the magic .400.

Stan Musial took over the batting lead in the National League, cracking two hits in each game as the Cards swept a rain-delayed doubleheader from the Braves 8-6 and 6-0. Musial's two-run homer in the 10th inning decided the opener and Vinegar Bend Mizell's four-hitter featured the nightcap.

Brooklyn's third-place Dodgers advanced within 7½ games of the Braves despite splitting a twin bill with Pittsburgh. The Pirates snapped a second-game 4-4 tie with four runs in the eighth for an 8-6 victory after Duke Snider's two-run homer had given the Dodgers a 2-1 edge in the first game.

The sizzling Chicago Cubs prolonged two streaks by whipping the Cincinnati Redlegs 8-2. They stretched their winning streak to six in a row and tagged the Reds with their sixth consecutive defeat. Hank Sauer's two home runs in the first game and Red Worthington's three-hit pitching in the second gave the New York Giants a 5-4 and 1-0 sweep of their doubleheader in Philadelphia.

Dick Donovan's eight-hit pitching enabled the Chicago White Sox to salvage the final game of their four-game set from Detroit 4-1 after the Tigers had won the first game of the doubleheader 5-1 behind Frank Lary.

A grand-slam homer by Roy Sievers enabled the Senators to overcome a 3-0 Boston lead and make it two in a row over the Red Sox. Cal McLish pitched the Cleveland Indians to a 9-2 triumph.

Little League Hurler Strikes Out Every Foe

NEWPORT, R. I. — Twelve-year-old Ricky Love gave his Little League teammates a rest by striking out every batter in the five-inning game for a 10-0 victory. He didn't even allow a long foul. At bat, though, he wasn't so lucky. A pitched ball knocked him out in the third inning, but he was quickly revived and resumed his pitching chore.

over Kansas City with a six-hit performance.

Tom Sturdivant's five-hit pitching in the opener and Yogi Berra's five hits in both games highlighted the Yankees' twin victories. Berra drove in five runs, including all three in the second game. Bob Grim saved Don Larsen's seventh victory in the nightcap.

Lary, posting his sixth Detroit victory against 15 losses, helped his cause with a two-run single that snapped a 1-1 tie and handed Billy Pierce his ninth defeat against 16 triumphs. Sherm Lollar drove in two Chicago runs with a single and his ninth homer in the second game.

The Cardinals overcame a 6-1 deficit and finally triumphed in the 10th when Musial walloped his 26th home run of the year with a mate aboard. Musial also collected a pair of hits in the nightcap.

Snider hit his 30th and 31st home runs for Brooklyn. The first came in the seventh of the opener to overcome a 1-0 Pittsburgh lead and give Sal Maglie his sixth victory. The blow came after Junior Gilliam had singled for the first hit off loser Bob Friend. Pittsburgh's four runs in the eighth on the nightcap were unearned, all runs coming after Don Zimmer's error.

Ernie Banks helped Bob Rush gain his fourth victory for Chicago, driving in three runs with a double and his 27th home run.

Football Physicals Slated For 7 P. M. at High School

Circleville High School's 1957 football prospects are scheduled for physical examinations tonight in the local gym. The gridders will report at 7 p. m.

According to head coach Tom Bennett full scale practice gets underway tomorrow, with sessions scheduled twice daily until school starts.

Coch Bennett said drills probably will be held this year at the Pickaway County Fairgrounds instead of at Atwater field where the Tigers practiced the last several seasons.

The CHS gridders open September 13 at Athens, with the first home game slated the following Friday with Chillicothe. Local fans will get a look at the 1957 squad during a pre-season preview, set for September 6.

Bennett, starting his first season as head coach here, will have nine returning lettermen to form the nucleus of his squad. The backfield veterans are quarterback Mike Hosler and halfbacks Walt Arledge and Ray Phifer. Linemen include ends Jon Parcher, Bill Johnson and Fred Sines, guards Asa Elsea and Terry Barthelmas and tackle Bill Perkins.

And Philadelphia's Phillies, who aim to knock the Reds out of fourth place, had their aspirations frustrated by loss of two games to New York.

The Cubs, riding a six-game hot streak, outhit the Reds only 9-8 Sunday, but managed to get their hits — including two homers — where they were most effective.

Cub starter Bob Rush had a weak moment in the third inning when Cincinnati put together a two-run lead on a walk and two doubles.

But that was the end of the Redleg scoring as Rush went the distance for his third straight victory.

Lefthander Joe Nuxhall, who started for Cincinnati, was routed in the fifth inning when the Cubs boomed over with four runs.

The teams were marked down for a doubleheader, but rain washed out the nightcap in the third inning when the Reds were ahead, 4-2. The teams plan to replay it here next Monday.

Lowly Cubs Act Like Giant-Killers

CHICAGO — The seventh-place Chicago Cubs are riding a six game winning streak and are winners of 12 of their last 15 games. Manager Bob Scheffing believes his club has knocked both St. Louis and Cincinnati out of the pennant picture.

"This is a different team than opened the season with us," said Scheffing. "I don't know where we'd be if we started out this way. We've beaten St. Louis six straight and now we're beginning to catch up to Cincinnati by taking the last three games."

Soap Box Derby Won by Hoosier

AKRON — For the second time in the 20-year history of the Soap Box Derby, the champion is from Anderson, Ind.

A crowd of 70,000 watched Sunday as a blue and white racer driven by 15-year-old Terry Townsend flashed to a length-and-a-half victory in the championship heat. Another Anderson boy, Maurice Bale, Jr., now a farmer, took home the 1935 championship.

Terry said he hasn't made up his mind which college he will attend on the first prize of a $5,000 scholarship.

David Hakman, 15, of Los Angeles won a $4,000 scholarship for his second-place finish.

Charley Horse Wins Cincy Net Tourney

LEXINGTON, Ky. — Wally Holzman, Cincinnati, and Gene Buwick, Louisville, won the doubles in the Lexington Country Club Invitational Tennis Tournament by default here today.

The pair was declared winners over Bob Hecht, Louisville, and Hal Schaus, Akron, in a tournament marred by muscular cramps among the finalists.

The ailments caused the singles and finals, between Holzman and Schaus, to be declared a draw during the fourth set.

Big Crowds Attracted by Boxing Stars

SEATTLE — A fight which has been hailed far and wide as a mismatch — Thursday's heavyweight title match between champion Floyd Patterson and upstart amateur challenger Pete Rademacher — is attracting turnaway crowds before it even starts.

Twenty miles south of here at Kent, Wash., Patterson's training ring is set up on a playfield tennis court. When the champ arrives for his workout, the place, which seats 1,500, has no more spare space than a sardine can.

"It's amazing," says Gus D'Amato, Patterson's manager. "We have never attracted crowds like these."

Rademacher is drawing only half as many at his camp in Issaquah, east of Seattle, but he works out in a recreation hall where he gets a crowd of 750.

Patterson will collect a guaranteed $250,000. Even if the bout is a $400,000 sellout — and the advance sales indicate it might be an SRO affair — Rademacher is fighting for nothing.

His Georgia backers have put up the Patterson guarantee and will take 60 per cent of the gate, the other 40 going to promoter Jack Hurley.

Althea Gibson Due At Wilberforce Fete

WILBERFORCE — Althea Gibson, recent winner of the Wimbledon matches in England and the women's world champion tennis crown, will play an exhibition match here today.

Her opponent will be Darlene Hard, runnerup in the Wimbledon matches. The match will be played on the Central State College courts here.

The exhibition will mark the start of the annual American Tennis Assn. tournament which will continue through Saturday. Althea has held the association title for the last 10 years but will not defend the crown this year.

Qualifying Round Opens Jaycee Junior Tourney

COLUMBUS — The first of two 18-hole qualifying rounds in the 12th Annual International Jaycee Junior Golf Tournament gets underway today at Ohio State University's 6,810-yard, par-72 course. The second qualifying round in the 72-hole medal play tourney will be staged Tuesday.

Superhighway System Faces Cost Pinch

Original Federal Estimate To Be Short by $3 Billion

WASHINGTON (AP) — Construction of a 41,000-mile network of super-highways criss-crossing the nation has been caught in the pinch of rising costs, and diminishing income.

Results of the pinch may not show up until fiscal 1960, which starts July 1, 1959. From then until possibly 1968, or later, it's going to hurt.

The highway act of 1956 contemplated completion of the interstate system in 13 to 15 years. Officials of the Bureau of Public Roads are now talking in terms of 16 years and possibly longer. Original estimates put the cost of the vast road-building project at 27½ billion dollars. The federal government picks up 90 percent of the tab and states pay the balance.

Rising costs have knocked that estimate into a cocked hat. A new estimate now being completed is expected to add a minimum of three billion dollars to the bill and maybe more.

To make the pinch more binding, income from the special excise taxes on gasoline, tires etc., is falling behind schedule. These highway users' taxes go into a special highway trust fund. Under the pay-as-you-go legislation, federal allocations to the states for the interstate system cannot exceed the amount in the fund.

In fiscal 1957, which ended last June 30, trust fund income fell 60 million dollars below the 1½ billion which was forecast. Because work is just now getting under way on the interstate network—and the high spending hasn't really started—there was still a surplus of 432 million to be carried forward. Another surplus of 170 million has been forecast for this fiscal year, although it probably won't be that high.

In fiscal 1959 a deficit of 232 million will eat deeply into the surplus that has been carried forward. And then, starting in fiscal 1960, which begins July 1, 1959, that built-up surplus will probably disappear altogether and the program will start to lag.

Thus, in several future years the allocations will fall below the limit authorized by Congress and won't catch up again until 1968. Because the authorizations may be carried forward from year to year, road officials will just save them up until eventually they have the money to fill them.

But what are they going to do about the expected jump in the cost of the highway system? There appear to be four possible choices, none of them attractive.

The excise taxes may be increased, the proposed mileage of the interstate system may be reduced, the program may be lengthened by as many years as needed to complete it on smaller annual budgets, or the bureau may ask Congress for appropriations to make up the difference.

The trouble is that no tax increase is popular, no congressman will want the mileage reduced in his own state, and there is little chance Congress would ever take the program off the strictly pay-as-you-go basis by making any appropriations.

That leaves only a lengthening of the time needed to complete the program and that is probably what's going to be done.

No Peace at 29,000 Feet

Ohio Air Guardsman Tells Feelings at Annual Camp

Editor's Note: Each year, almost 2,000 Ohioans travel to Alpena, Mich., for two weeks active duty training with the Ohio Air National Guard. Many give up their vacations to do so. Here Columbus Associated Press Staffer Phil Gunby, who was there, tells why, and how it feels "fighting" a jet at 29,000 feet.

By PHIL GUNBY

PHILIPS COLLINS BASE, ALPENA, Mich. (AP)—Down below, it's all serenity and beauty. The sun-sparkled waters of the Straits of Mackinac and the cool, green coasts of Upper Michigan invite men to think peaceful thoughts.

But there's no peace at 29,000 feet. Almost six miles up, inherently peaceful men concentrate on the skills of battle. This is the mid-20th century, the weapons are unbelievably complex, and men must strain to keep pace.

There's no time now to reflect on the scene below. No time to think about the wife and kids back in Ohio. Or whether the lawn needs mowing back there. Or how things are going at the office . . . or the shop . . . or the store.

Fifty other weeks of the year, these men can let their minds wander to civilian preoccupations, even as they perform part-time military duties with the Ohio Air National Guard.

Not now. Not at 29,000 feet. Today they are jet fighter pilots. They are Ohio Air National Guardsmen with jet-propelled gun platforms to maneuver through the sky.

There's a tow target out there, a 6 by 30-foot ribbon of plastic.

Cincinnati Girl Returning Home

CINCINNATI (AP)—Charlotte Saxe, Cincinnati music student who took part in the recent Youth Festival at Moscow despite State Department warnings she would aid Communist propaganda, is slated to return home this week.

Her father, Samuel Saxe, said Sunday night she telephoned from England and said she was "enjoying herself and will be home in a few days."

Some members of the American group accepted invitations to go on to Red China despite further State Department warnings.

Miss Saxe has been touring European countries enroute back to the United States.

Airport Ground Used To Prep Greyhounds
LOS ANGELES (AP)—Police and airport patrolmen handed citations Sunday to nine men and a woman for trespassing on International Airport.

Officers said the group had about 20 greyhounds and were letting the dogs catch rabbits on airport property. Pilots had expressed fear a dog might be struck.

Police said they'll ask the city attorney to issue complaints against the dog owners.

Bomb Expert Killed

BERLIN (AP)—Werner Stephan, West Berlin's top explosives expert who pulled the fangs of 8,000 bomb duds since the end of the last war, was killed Saturday when a 15-centimeter shell exploded.

type mesh pulled a thousand feet behind a speeding F84E jet.

At least today it's a tow target. Tomorrow it may be an enemy bomber, boring in on an American city with a load of death.

Up at 29,000, the job is to intercept and destroy.

Swoop down from the "perch." Dip the wing to the right. Now the left. Only 1,200 feet out. The target rushes at the gunsight. A burst from the .50 calibers.

Then up. Bank and climb away. Another pilot—another banker or lawyer or store owner or insurance man or shop superintendent—another neighbor; another commuter—is streaking in, firing and pulling away at hundreds of miles an hour.

Inherently peaceful men, slammed back against their ejection seats, straining to lift their arms against the pull of gravity in a tight turn, climbing, "perching", diving to the attack again and again—perhaps 10 times before the end of the 50-mile range is reached . . . or the guns "go dry."

Glamorous? There are no spectators at 29,000.

They're up there together, these

Firemen Name Chief

COLUMBUS (AP)—Ralph Weimer of Columbus, a member of the Clinton Twp. Fire Department, was re-elected president of the Ohio State Firemen's Assn. by the group here Sunday.
